

Hi Year 5,

Last week we looked at the Literacy Shed clip of 12 different planets and you drew your four favourite landscapes. Some of you may have had a go at doing some short film animation using play dough. This week, watch the clip of Pandora, this is the planet used in the film Avatar. I would like you to draw, sketch or paint your planet which you have decided upon for your creative writing story. Think about the detail, does your planet have vegetation or water: oceans, lakes, waterfalls etc. Include as much detail as possible as this will help when you write your setting description next week. After you have done this, I would like you to complete a story board outlining the sequence of events for your sci-fi story. Each box will form part of a paragraph in your draft write. If it helps, use this story mountain illustration to remind you of the formation of a story.
