

Wednesday 13th May

Good morning,

Let's start the day with a wake up, shake up to warm up our bodies and our brains. Click on the link to watch and follow Joe Wick's PE class.

English - Reading Comprehension

Watch two of the online stories, read by famous authors, how do you think watching the story compares to reading the book yourself. Is it easier to process the information if it is being read aloud? Which creates better imagery? Would you imagine paint a different picture to the one shown on the screen? Write a short debate, giving your perspective on whether or not this is a better way to encourage children to get excited about books. Outline and justify your arguments.

Maths -Activelearn

Complete two of the activities which I have set you on Activelearn. Try topics which you know you need to practise.

Geography

Research famous viewpoints from around the World. You could link this to Spanish and research some famous buildings or structures in one of the cities. How does the architecture fit into the landscape? Is it an historic viewpoint or a contemporary build? How does it represent the Country in which it is located? You can either draw the viewpoint or find an image and write a short analysis of it answering some of the questions.

Have a lovely day and take care,

Mrs Williams
